LINCOLN AN EXAMPLE FOR WORLD OF TODAY

Mr. John Richards of St. Paul's School Delivers Sermon at Memorial Service

CITES TRUST IN GOD

His Prayer Before Autietam an Instance of Faith in Heavenly Father

The special Lincoln's Birthday service in the Chapel, February 12, began with a choral procession, with the full choir and congregation singing, "Faith of Our Fathers", at the close of which the flags were borne into the Chapel by E. S. Paige, the President of the Student Body, and T. C. Jones, the College Marshal. J. J. Sharkey of the Senior Class read as a lesson the Gettysburg Address, followed by the passage from the eleventh chapter of St. Luke about "The House divided against itself." The anthem sung by the choir was "The Souls of the Righteous" by Dr. T. Tertius Noble.

The address on Abraham Lincoln was made by Mr. John Richards, master at St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., who took as his text John I: 46, 47. He began with a terse description of Lincoln:

"He was a man who was steadfast and unfaltering in his purpose, consistent and unchangeable in the great tasks which he undertook, and at the same time a man who grew and broadened with his job; a man who loved his enemy if ever man did; a strange awkward giant of six feet four in rusty black topped off with a well-worn silk hat; a man who prepared his cabinet for his proclamation that freed the slaves by reading a chapter from Artemus Ward, the gentle newspaper clown and comic lecturer of the period; a man who in

R. HOWARD IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF JESTERS

Committee Appointed to Consider Awards for Performances in Recent Show

An election of officers was held at a meeting of the senior Jesters last Wednesday afternoon at the Delta Phi fraternity house, W. W. Sisbower presiding. Elections included Rex J. Howard, '34, as president, and R. I. Thomas, '34, as new property manager. Also, a committee to consider awards for work in the Jesters' last production, "The Bad Man", was appointed, which included Mr. W. C. Helmbold, G. A. Day, '34, B. Shaw, '35, W. Ewing, '34, and Rex Howard, '34. Likewise, a committee of J. J. Sharkey, '33, chairman, J. M. Prutting, '33, and B. Shaw, '35, was appointed to consider a new play to be staged.

R. Howard has been prominent at Trinity ever since he came as a freshman. During his first year here he was elected to the Athenaeum Society, and took part in his first Jesters' play. In his sophomore year he was promoted to senior Jester and acted in two of the society's productions. He was also elected to the Sophomore Rules Committee and made president of the Athenaeum Society. This year he is still president of the Athenaeum, and a member of the Junior Prom Committee.

R. I. Thomas is on the editorial board of the Tripod, and is a member of Sigma Nu.

TRINITY SWIMMERS WIN CLOSE UNION CONTEST

Season's Second Meet for Squad Marked by Fast Time and Tight Finish

RELAY VITAL FACTOR

W. Adams, A. Hall, Mowbray, and Mortimer Turn Tide in Final Event

Trinity won the second 'varsity swimming meet of the season with a close victory of 39 to 38 over Union College in the Trowbridge Memorial on February 10. In the first of the nine events, the Medley Relay, Adams, backstroker, Coit, breast-stroker, and Mortimer, sprinter, were matched with Neese, Burd and Maney of Union. Mortimer helped score the initial six points when he beat Maney with a time of 3.33.7. Mortimer also clipped 2.8 off the Wesleyan record. In the 220-yard swim, Hall and Tucker opposed Oppenheim and Stearns. Oppenheim of Union secured first place in 2.40.3 and broke the Wesleyan time of 2.42.2 which had been held jointly by Mitchell of Wesleyan, and Buess of Trinity. Tucker of Trinity, and Stearns of Union finished second and third. Mowbray and

TERRELL IS FORCED TO LEAVE WESLEYAN

Francis S. (Buzz) Terrell, brilliant running mate of Larry Schlums, left Wesleyan recently to complete his college course at Rhode Island State College. Terrell gave promise of developing into as capable a back as Schlums and he was to have been the nucleus of the 1933 eleven.

Terrell, who lives in West Barrington, R. I., showed his ability on the gridiron in his freshman year. He was ineligible the following year, but last year made an enviable record on the Cardinal and Black team. His run of 54 yards in the Haverford game was one of the highlights of the season and was directly responsible for Wesleyan's victory.

Coach Jim Oberlander considers the loss of Terrell one of the greatest possible blows to the success of his eleven next year.

Trustees Vote Outdoor Pulpit as Memorial to Dr. Luther— Grounds Cleared

With all construction on the College Chapel completed, work has been carried on during the past few weeks in roughly grading the ground around it in preparation for the landscape gardening planned for next spring. The construction shanties, extra stones, lumber, and all debris have been cleared away. Plans have been completed for the planting of ivy and shrubs, and a flower bed, containing plants to be donated in memory of Dr. Ernest Wilson, will be laid on the south side near the cloister.

The outdoor pulpit on the south side of the tower of the new Chapel has by vote of the Trustees been designated as a memorial to President Luther. As Doctor Luther was a great preacher, this pulpit makes an appropriate memorial to him. It is still more fitting because it recalls President Luther's association with the outdoor services on the College campus which have become such an attractive feature of Commencement at Trinity. Dr. Ogilby recently expressed the opinion that perhaps the greatest day in Doctor Luther's life, while President of Trinity, was the Commencement Sunday in 1918 when he introduced his friend Theodore Roosevelt to speak at the outdoor service on the campus. It was this service that started the regular succession of outdoor services which have been maintained since.

"Mr. Roosevelt was in great form that morning and preached from the text, 'Let no man that putteth on his armor boast like him that taketh it off.' This was a good text in wartime, and might be considered equally good in time of peace. On the tenth

TRINITY RATED SECOND IN PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Dr. Ogilby Presents Interesting Facts as Trustees Attend January Meeting

COLLEGE HAS SURPLUS

Despite Depression Only Slight Shrinkage in Income of Funds Noted

Trinity's rating among representative colleges and universities throughout the country rose from sixteenth place to second place between the fall of 1931 and the fall of 1932, the annual report, released Saturday, February 4, of President Ogilby, presented at the January meeting of the trustees, disclosed. The rating was announced recently by the American Council of Education, at Washington, D. C.

Dr. Ogilby in his report defended the autocracy of the professor in the classroom, and declared that the best is done by the teachers who have the most to do. In reference to the professors he stated: "As for the teaching by individual members of the Faculty, appraisal is impossible. We have been able, in certain departments, to add more instructors. Others are still in need of considerable help. In this connection mention must be made of the continued high level maintained by the instructors in the Physics and Chemistry departments in spite of the ancient laboratories

WESLEYAN FOOTBALL FREE TO STUDENTS

According to the terms of the new agreement between the Trinity Athletic Association and the Wesleyan Department of Physical Education, Trinity and Wesleyan students and faculty will be given free entrance to all football games between the two colleges. This agreement applies only to football games; in all other sports students and faculty of the visiting college must pay the usual admission. The only change in the conduct of sports other than football and Commencement baseball games is that no guarantees will be paid, and that the visiting team will pay its own traveling expenses.

'VARSITY FIVE EASILY SWAMPS ST. STEPHEN'S

Blue and Gold Squad Has Little Trouble Winning Fifth Game in Succession

MARTENS STARS

Kearns Shows Ability in First Start—Duksa Works Well in Defense

Last Thursday night, February 9, the Blue and Gold quintet scored its fifth straight victory, drubbing the St. Stephen's squad, of Annandale, N. Y., to the tune of 50 to 12. In a match, played in the Hopkins Street gymnasium, which proved too one-sided to be of much interest to the spectators, the Trinity men were never forced to work at top speed.

Tommy Kearns, taking his place in the Blue and Gold lineup for the first time, played surprisingly well, teaming up smoothly with Pepper Martens, whose brilliant shooting from long range and from close to the hoop, featured Trinity's easy triumph.

Kearns scored often from mid-floor, most of his shots arching in from near the center circle but the work of the former Weaver player was overshadowed by the spectacular all-around playing of Martens. Each sank six shots from the floor but Martens dropped in four from the free throw line to lead the scoring for Trinity with a total of 16 points.

"Duke" Duksa played a smashing defensive game for the Hilltoppers, breaking up many St. Stephen's plays before they were well advanced, and four times working through the visitors' defense to toss in shots from the floor.

St. Stephen's had possession of the ball for very little time during

COLLEGE HOST TO HI-Y CLUB OF CONNECTICUT

Delegates to Annual Conference Entertained Here During Last Week-end

One hundred delegates attended the State Hi-Y Conference held at Trinity College on February 10 and 11. On Friday afternoon the delegates, consisting of boys of high school age and of adult leaders, registered and many then attended the swimming meet with Union College. In the evening dinner was served in Cook Dining Hall. James Lawlor of Waterbury, Conference President, presided, and Lewis A. Knox led songs. President Ogilby, E. S. Paige, '33, and the Rev. Harold R. Brennan, pastor of the North M. E. Church, addressed the delegates after dinner. At 8.30 many of the members took a swim in the college pool.

Saturday the delegates attended the college chapel and then had breakfast. At 9.15 in the chapel officers for the State Hi-Y were elected, and Warner H. Hollister, of the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A., spoke to the delegates. The rest of the morning was devoted to discussion groups in which the various phases of Hi-Y work were analyzed by experienced leaders. A discussion group for the men delegates was led by Mr. Hollister. Dinner was served in the Dining Hall, and at 1.30 the closing took place in the chapel. Lewis A. Knox led a song service, and Mr. Hollister gave the closing address.

ACOUSTICS IN THE CHAPEL

There is no doubt that the completion of the new chapel has been the greatest factor in affording a center of common interest to the entire student body. This is a bond which has been long needed by Trinity, whose purpose cannot be fulfilled by the classroom or the various campus organizations. That the new chapel does represent such a bond is attested by the large attendance, especially for Wednesday services. This might be explained by the system of compulsory chapel credit, but it is a fact that the average attendance greatly exceeds that of former years, when services were held in the old chapel.

The new chapel is a fine piece of architecture. Perhaps the graceful arches, the soaring stone columns, the multi-colored windows, and the fine quality of the new organ are an attraction sufficient to satisfy many who attend the services. The value of these to the spiritual element cannot be overlooked, but neither must it be forgotten that the chapel, as a House of God, must serve its primary purpose of affording a place of worship and the deliverance of a message.

We recognize that conditions have not been perfected for the best acoustics, but as conditions are at present most of the sermons at Wednesday and Sunday services are practically inaudible to the majority of those present. An effort to make allowance for the lack of sound-absorbing materials has been made in the erection of a speaker's platform at the eastern end of the chapel with reflecting boards to concentrate the sound waves in the direction of the congregation. This has succeeded in carrying the speaker's words to those in the first three or four pews on either side, but beyond that and especially in the rear of the chapel a sermon delivered by those unacquainted with the peculiar acoustical conditions become a jumble of blurred sounds echoed and reechoed. We still feel that there is a large number of students who attend chapel on Wednesday and Sunday who are interested in what the message of the speaker has to offer them. It has been found from experience that announcements from stations west of the organ have been quite audible to the majority of listeners. Would not a sermon be just as audible from this point?—R. R.

THE HI-Y CONFERENCE

The reception given the Hi-Y conference last week is, we think, representative of the possibilities of what can be done in regard to holding such meetings at Trinity. The gratitude and appreciation expressed by the Hi-Y leaders is indicative of the success of the conference, which in part can be credited to the Senate, the Sophomore Dining Club, and the college authorities.

That there was some protest voiced by some members of the student body who were forced to vacate their rooms was unfortunate, but this condition may be excused on several grounds. It must be remembered that such a conference is a new thing for the present student body, which, combined with the fact that most of the undergraduates did not have a clear idea of what the Hi-Y conference meant, was undoubtedly responsible for some of the apparent lack of cooperation. It must be remembered also that it was not made clear that the Senate had voted the use of Cook Dormitory for our guests. Consequently, some students felt that they were being asked to leave their rooms without cause. However, with the experience gained last week for holding such meetings, these matters can be considered in the future, and should be comparatively simple to take care of.

Such conferences should be a welcome substitute for the awkward Sub-Freshman Week-end which has been held in past years. That these have been regarded as bothersome by the majority of the undergraduates is undoubtedly true; thus group meetings of the sort we have just had must cheer any who have horror-stricken visions of Sub-Freshman Week-end returning as an annual affair.

Too much credit can not be given Sharkey and Sheafe for the manner in which they, as the Senate welcoming committee, managed the entertainment of our guests, or to Kingston for his work in securing the cooperation of the Sophomore Dining Club, or to Dr. Motten. Such meetings are a true credit to Trinity, and may we have more of them.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of the Tripod:

The precedent set by this year's Junior Prom Committee in holding the Prom in Cook Hall is one that, in the mind of this writer, should prove the foundation for some interesting discussion. The problem under consideration deals with the advisability of holding a large affair of this sort in Cook, as opposed to the traditional site of Alumni Hall. Let us consider, briefly, the merits of each, and attempt to arrive at a solution that will meet with general approval.

The "old gym" for years has been the scene of our class dances, and there are many who don't like to see this tradition broken, as there are also many who like a change and therefore consider Cook an ideal location. It is a beautiful place, tastefully decorated, with nice furniture (that the freshmen don't have to cart up from the various houses), and offering a chance to smoke that Alumni Hall does not. But it is impossible to install all the fraternities comfortably in booths in the small cafeteria, convenient as it may be for serving refreshments, whereas the gym has plenty of room for booths that can have, instead of hard wooden chairs, nice furniture (that the freshmen do have to cart up from the various houses).

Some prefer the orchestra hidden in the balcony, while others want to see it in action on the dance floor. I know for a fact that the orchestra itself would rather play on the floor, as the members like to see the dancers and can, in such surroundings, give better music. In the gym this is possible.

One thing I noticed at the Prom was the fact that the patrons and patronesses could form no real receiving line; students didn't know how to go about introducing their guests, because some were in the lounge and some were struggling bravely inside the door of the dining hall. In Alumni Hall we all know where to find them, and they had a comfortable place in which to receive us.

There are many other points that might be raised in this discussion—many that have not occurred to me. Personally, I should prefer Alumni Hall as the location for our class dances, even if the stairs do creak, and even if we all have to crowd around the head of the stairs for a "drag." But my main object in writing this communication is to find out how the other students really feel about this problem, as I feel it to be. I hope that some one will jump on my neck and take the opposite side of the question, for there surely are two sides.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS TO NURSES' ASSOCIATION

"Uncle Tom's Filling Station or Eliza Crossing the Ice Cubes", Subject

On Monday, February 6, President Ogilby spoke at the annual meeting of the Visiting Nurses' Association of Hartford. His subject was, "Uncle Tom's Filling Station or Eliza Crossing the Ice Cubes." As the title indicates, President Ogilby's idea was to suggest the relation between emotion and efficiency. Mrs. Stowe's book was one of the profound influences on emotional thinking in the last century, while the filling station and the electric ice-box suggest the perfection of modern invention. The Visiting Nurse is a happy combination of earnest desire to help those in need plus organized efficiency.

LINCOLN EXAMPLE.

his perplexity before the battle of Antietam went down on his knees like a child and promised his Father in Heaven that if victory was granted and the enemy driven out of Maryland, he would consider it an indication that he should go forward and free the slaves; a man entirely self-educated who in his great messages and speeches used our language with a consecrated purity and grandeur that takes us straight back to the Gospels. Ridiculed before and during the early years of his presidency as Uncle Abe, a sort of comic backwoodsman, he came to be looked upon as an invincible leader and tender father."

Mr. Richards continued by quoting from Mr. Choate's description of Lincoln at the time he spoke in Cooper Union in New York, and then passed on to discuss his outstanding virtues, stressing the element of growth in the man in the face of difficulties. He quoted with marked effect President Lincoln's letter to General Hooker as evidence of his strength in a crisis, and then went on to develop his loving kindness, speaking of him with deep feeling as a Christ-like person.

One of the many interesting anecdotes about Lincoln was told by Mr. Richards. When Lincoln was visiting his troops at Bull Run, a colonel came to him and claimed that despite the fact that his period of enlistment had expired, General Sherman had threatened to shoot him, should he leave. Lincoln quickly replied that as Sherman looked like a man of his word, the colonel had better keep out of his way.

The extraordinary loving kindness of Lincoln was a quality which brought him closer to Christ than any other man. Many times he spared deserters from being shot, since he said that shooting would not cure them. He was a man who loved his enemy and harbored grudges against no one. His divine quality appears in the fact that he hated slavery, but nevertheless did not contemplate any revenge on the South. He once said, "I know there is a God and that He hates slavery and injustice. I know I am right for I know liberty is right."

After his tribute to Lincoln, Mr. Richards proceeded to apply his theme to the problems of today. He noted with satisfaction the many instances of fine patience and endurance of hardships, and suggested to the despondent that they look around among their friends for signs of the rugged virtues of Lincoln. He closed by saying:

"The common people who gave us Abraham Lincoln will see our country through."

The service closed with the singing of the Battle Hymn of the Republic in stirring fashion, with trumpets and drums to reinforce the organ. After the fortissimo of the fourth verse, William Kirby of the Freshman class sang the fifth verse as a solo.

'VARSITY FIVE FACES

CARDINALS WEDNESDAY

First Game with Wesleyan to be Played at Middletown—Set for Eight p. m.

The first basketball game with Wesleyan for this season will take place at Middletown tomorrow night, Wednesday, February 15, and not tonight as was originally scheduled. Having lost one game out of six, the Trinity five will face Coach Dale Lash's team which has played nine games.

Wesleyan's team has staged a real comeback after its losing slump earlier in the season. After taking a rather weak Haverford outfit over in the first game played, they lost three close games to Swarthmore, Brown, and Williams. But then, greatly aided by marvelous improvement shown by Harry Allen, lanky center, the Cardinals came back and defeated the Connecticut Aggies, Amherst, and the Coast Guard in rapid succession. Larry Schlums is perhaps the most consistent scorer on the team, with MacGoode and Harry Allen close behind him. Last Saturday night the Cardinals were trounced by Williams 45 to 27, losing again to the Purple and Gold who beat them 36 to 33 the first match. Wesleyan upset the Coast Guard a week ago to the tune of 37 to 31.

Trinity's latest acquisition is Tommy Kearns, former Weaver High star, who was ineligible till the Saint Stephen's game because of the six months' rule. In that game as well as in the Coast Guard defeat he has shown himself an asset at a forward position. His coming has given the Blue and Gold quintet plenty of height, for he is topped only by Bob Daut. Ray Liddell is still nursing a severe "charley-horse", aggravated in the Worcester Tech game.

The Junior Varsity team will play the Wesleyan Jayvees in a preliminary match at 6.45. The Varsity game begins at 8 o'clock.

There is a square block below the outdoor pulpit, and on that it is planned to have carved some representation of President Luther and Mr. Roosevelt together as they were on that day in June, 1918. Other appropriate carving will be introduced into the decoration of the pulpit.

ILLUSION:

Right before your very eyes the man of magic draws rabbits, vegetables, flowers, fruits—even babies—all from an empty tub! What an astonishing fellow he is!

EXPLANATION:

The assorted rabbits, babies, carrots, cabbages, ribbons and other magical "props" are not created by magic. The tub has a false bottom that is conveniently displaced, and numberless wonderful things spring to life in the magician's nimble fingers. They do literally "spring" because they are made to compress into the bottom of the tub, taking their natural shape as the magician lifts them out.

It's FUN TO BE FooLED ...IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW

Tricks are legitimate on the stage but not in business. Here's one that has been used in cigarette advertising...the illusion that blending is everything in a cigarette.

EXPLANATION: Blending is important...but it makes a lot of difference what is blended. Inferior tobaccos can be blended to cover up their humble origin. But your taste soon detects the trick.

The proper use of blending is to bring out the full "round" flavor of mild, high-grade tobaccos. It's the costliness of the tobaccos, as well as the blending, that counts.

 It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent by others in the attempt to discover just how Camels are blended. The blend is important.

But all the while Camel spends millions more for choice tobaccos...to insure your enjoyment.

Light up a Camel. Relax, while the delicate blue smoke floats about you. Enjoy to the full the pleasure that comes from costlier tobaccos.

Keep Camels always handy...in the air-tight, welded Humidor Pack.

crowded far beyond ordinary human endurance. It is greatly to the credit of Professor Perkins and Professor Kriebel that they have been able to see that good teaching is done in Physics and Chemistry with inadequate facilities.

"Perhaps our weakest point at Trinity is that we are not careful enough in looking after the needs of newly appointed instructors in the critical first semester of their teaching. That the Joint Educational Committee should always strive to get the best men possible to fill vacancies is so obvious that the mention of the fact is almost ludicrous.

"Although the requirements for the degrees remain the same, the focus of attention should undoubtedly be on the introductory courses. Here even the best teachers on the Faculty are handicapped by changes in the schools. It is becoming increasingly rare to find a high school where homework is still the rule. Because the lessons assigned at Trinity require two or three hours of intensive study, there are many freshmen who find it impossible to carry the burden. The time has come when colleges must take due cognizance of this problem.

"As to our building needs, every vote of the Trustees of Trinity College at every meeting might well include a rider in the words of the ancient Roman philosopher, to the effect that a new Chemistry laboratory is vitally important. Further mention of that would be a waste of rhetoric.

"Any consideration of the connecting link between the Library and the Chapel must, of course, be indefinitely postponed. We need new library space, and more office accommodation for the Administration, but they both must wait. Nothing has yet been done about the old chapel, unused since last June. Obviously it would not be difficult to remodel that space for use as a small assembly hall, or little theatre, a project that may some time appeal to a benevolent donor. No estimates have been secured, but the cost should not seem large.

"The general appearance of the campus has been improved, largely due to the efforts of men working under the direction of the Community Chest, to which our Trinity group in Hartford has contributed generously. The restoration of the old gates and the foot-path in front of the President's house is a pleasant reminder of the old college. Grading and planting are everywhere apparent, and sites have been prepared for the much needed tennis courts.

"At a time when so many institutions have had their activities restricted or even curtailed by drastic reductions in their income from invested funds, it is good to put on record our experience for the past year. The index figure with us is the income yield from the combined securities of a number of trust funds, handled on the books as the Consolidated Fund. In the academic year 1930-32 the income rate was 5.340. For the year 1931-32 the same figure was 5.245, a shrinkage so small as to reflect credit upon the Finance Committee of the Trustees. If we combine with this figure the income yield from the trust funds separately invested, the average would be even higher.

"The other factor which has enabled us to close our books with a surplus is the receipts from our student population. Due to a 20% increase in the size of the college last year, we have 426 undergraduates, which is really more than we can comfortably accommodate when our limited resources in laboratory courses are considered. Appeals for help for worthy students are so numerous as to cause grave anxiety to the Administration, as is the case in all colleges today. There will be, in years to come, altogether too many men compelled to work under the handicap of an education cut off too prematurely by circumstances beyond their control.

"We have tried to minimize this loss in every possible way. Last year of all the students enrolled in September, not a single one who did good work was compelled to leave on account of financial troubles at home. Of the men in college now, 129 are receiving some sort of actual scholarship aid from the college, amounting approximately to $30,000: $12,605 of this amount is provided by the income from trust funds specially designated for that purpose, leaving a balance distributed in the form of unendowed scholarships, most of which we award because of previous commitments on the part of the Board of Trustees in past generations."

COAST GUARD SMASHES BLUE AND GOLD HOPES

Chances for Perfect Season Are Ruined by Sailors at New Haven

DAUT EXCELS

Captain Makes Twelve Points for Team—Game Ends With 40-31 Score

Trinity's basketball team, unbeaten in five starts this season, was finally conquered Saturday night when the Coast Guard quintet overwhelmed it at New London by a score of 40 to 31.

During the early stages of the game both teams were rather ragged in their play. Trinity stated the scoring, however, when Johnny Martens dropped in a one-hand field goal. Captain Daut followed this attempt with another field goal, and it seemed as though Trinity's high-powered defense was again going to sweep the opposition off its feet. The Coast Guard five then settled down to work in earnest, and after frustrating the Blue and Gold's next scoring tries, began to start their own offensive. From then on for the remainder of the half, the two teams battled on fairly even terms, first one team being ahead, then the other. Just before half time, the Trinity team again showed some flashes of the form that has made it such a formidable opponent this year. The half ended, however, with the sailors in the lead by two points.

Although the Trinity team began the second half in grand style, the Coast Guard five again proceeded to break up the Blue and Gold offense, and to play them on an even footing. The score see-sawed back and forth until with about seven minutes of the game left to play, and with Trinity leading by a scant margin, the Coast Guard quintet launched an attack of long shots. Trinity was completely demoralized, and overwhelmed by this display of hoop marksmanship was unable to either start or stop a counter-attack.

Captain Daut was by far the outstanding player on the Trinity squad. He out-jumped his man continually, and was high-point scorer for Trinity. Martens played his usual steady floor game, but Wellar, the Coast Guard ace in this contest, bottled him up so far as scoring was concerned. Kearns played a good game in his second 'varsity attempt, and made eight points. Wellar and Farney were the main cogs in the Coast Guard machine, and these men and their team in general scored most of the points by means of fine "set" shots, rather than short shots at the basket.

TRINITY LATIN CHAIR ALWAYS WELL OCCUPIED

Professor Moore, Here Till 1910, Noted for Gift of Writing Excellent Verse

Probably few Alumni of Trinity College are aware how fortunate the College has been in the quality and character of the men who have occupied the Chair of Latin. In succession to Dr. Hart, who left to take the position of Dean in the Berkeley Divinity School, Mr. H. W. Prescott came for a year during Dr. Hart's leave of absence. Somewhat later, came Professor Elmer T. Merrill from Wesleyan, who occupied the chair from 1905 to 1908, when he was called to the University of Chicago. He is now retired, and is living in California. Professor Merrill was succeeded by Professor Frank Gardner Moore from Dartmouth, who stayed until 1910, when he was called to Columbia University. He was succeeded by Professor Barret.

It is a matter of interest to Trinity men that Professors Hart, Prescott, Merrill, and Moore, have all been Presidents of the American Philological Association; Professor Hart in 1892; Professor Prescott in 1932; Professor Merrill in 1906; and Professor Moore in 1919. Professor Barret is now for the second time a member of the Executive Committee of the Association. It is generally regarded as an honor for a man to be chosen by his peers to be President of the Philological Association, and this choice, also, sets a seal, as it were, upon the qualities of his scholarship.

Professor Moore has always been noted for his gift of writing felicitous Latin. In recent years he has written a number of poems from which a selection is printed in the current number of the Classical Weekly, page 118. We have space to reprint here only one of these poems, and we choose one which has been translated into English by Professor Harry M. Ayers, of the Department of English, Columbia University. (Professor Ayers, as many will remember, was a candidate for the office of United States Senator last year, but since a knowledge of Latin is not required for the United States Senate, and might, perhaps, be regarded as a handicap in the discharge of that high office, he was not elected.)

The Classical Weekly is in the Library, and the other poems may be found there. One of them was composed in honor of Nicholas Murray Butler in celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of his presidency of Columbia University. The one which we reprint was written in honor of Professor Perry.

Translation of Above.

Your first love was the Hindu sage And sacred ancient lore Brahminic; The Grecian Muses next engage— The wits from Academe to Cynic—

Your unspent youth, which East and West Went toughening its linguistic fibre, As Rhine and Rhone and Po attest, Cephissus, Seine, and Tiber.

But still your native Hudson called, New York with all its fearful racket, Its lights that leave Heav'n's stars appalled, Its noise that seems to crack it.

Though few the shady, still retreats Amid its soaring smoke-wreathed towers, You braved the clamor of its streets To keep your academic hours.

Unterrified, the arts you brought Of Greece to youth within our portals, And here for half a century taught The language of the Gods to mortals.

Now may you ride without black care— Or white—upon your saddle set. May years to come be still more fair, Each fleeting day the fairest yet.

the two 20-minute halves and the Annandale team, on the comparatively few times it secured the ball seldom got it past the "bucket."

Every Trinity player was alert defensively and the St. Stephen's players, on the few times they got loose on "cuts" for the basket, invariably found a blocking arm in the way of the ball as they were ready to make their upward leaps.

St. Stephen's got only two baskets from the floor during the first half, Molyneaux and Woodruff tallying as Trinity dropped in shots from every angle to pile up a 31 to 7 margin. Only one double-counter was added to the St. Stephen's total in the second half, Mitton breaking loose to sink a toss that slipped through the mesh with the final pistol shot.

The Springfield Jayvees beat the Trinity Seconds in the preliminary game, 25 to 18.

Tobacco to smoke right has to be a different kind of tobacco from that used in cigarettes...and it has to be made by an entirely different process...

OUT in Kentucky, where they have pretty women, fast horses, and blue grass, there grows a tobacco called White Burley. It doesn't grow anywhere else in the world.

There is a type of this White Burley that is best suited for pipe smoking. It is neither too thick nor too thin. It is not light and chaffy; at the same time, it is not rank or strong. "U. S. Type 31" is the government classification for White Burley.

Since no other pipe tobacco has yet been found which seems to equal White Burley, this is what we use in making Granger Rough Cut.

Next, we use the Wellman Method, a famous 1870 method of making pipe tobacco, to give Granger its fine flavor and fragrance. Then, too, Granger is "Rough Cut"—just like they used to "whittle" their tobacco off a plug with a jack-knife. It smokes cool, lasts longer and never gums a pipe.

And finally, we want to sell Granger for 10 cents. Good tobacco—right process—cut right. So we put Granger in a sensible soft foil pouch instead of an expensive package, knowing that a man can't smoke the package.

Granger has not been on sale very long, but it has grown to be a popular smoke. Folks seem to like it.

TEN CENTS

MANY "BONERS" APPEAR IN RECENT MID-YEARS

Freshmen Show Presence of Mind if Lack of Knowledge in Examinations

Among the more humorous results of the mid-year examinations, we have gleaned the following "boners." In English A, the examiners were amused at reading that "Zuleika Dobson" is the Queen of Siam; that tautology is "the study of the gods", "a study of the religions which have the 'tantum' as their emblem", and "a belief in omens", while one ingenious person said it was "merely a way of describing something." With a truly loyal spirit, someone wrote that Irving Babbitt "lectured on Greek religion during religious history." One scholar, in identifying:

"But at my back from time to time I hear, The sound of horns and motors", wrote that it was "a quotation from Raleigh"; another that it was a "soliloquy from 'Hamlet.'" One freshman said that "The five kinds of thinking are revelry, etc."; and, in reference to the same question, another wrote: "Four of the five belong to T. S. Eliot, while the fifth is Professor Shepard's." It was also discovered that begging the question is "a term in argument which explains itself"; and finally that "Swift's relations with Stella were of a voluminous nature!"

In the German department, one student informs us that Isabeau was Queen Isabelle, Queen of England at the time of Joan of Arc, while others waxed dramatic in their translations, one reading: "He extended his arm into the antechamber and dragged her to his chest"; and another: "Her hand strummed over his 'haggared' cheeks."

Alexander sprinted the 50-yard dash against Mark and Griffing of Union. Mowbray finished first with a time of 26.2, with Griffing and Mark of Union as second and third.

Paige, despite his one-man handicap, scored second place in the diving event with 52.07 points. E. Schuman and D. Schuman of Union, placed first and third with 52.72, and 46.87 points, respectively. Oppenheim came in first among the 440-yard men, and broke the Wesleyan record of 5.54.2, with a time of 5.41.4. Motten of Trinity, who also broke the Wesleyan time, and Stearns of Union took second and third places. In the 150-yard backstroke, Neese of Union finished first in 2.00 flat, with Adams and Dickerson of Trinity as second and third. Burd of Union, obtained first place in the 220-yard breaststroke, in 3.05, with D. Schuman of Union, and Coit of Trinity, in second and third positions.

Mortimer and Day of Trinity, sprinted against Maney and Griffing of Union, for first and third places in the 100-yard dash, with Maney as second. Mortimer's time was 59.9. After an interval, the meet ended with a 200-yard relay. Adams, Hall, Mowbray, and Mortimer, of Trinity, were set against Griffing, Mark, Maney, and Oppenheim, of Union. Mortimer took over the final lap of the relay, to finish first, with a time of 1.46.2, equaling the pool record of last year.

The summary:

Medley Relay—Won by Trinity (W. Adams, Coit and Mortimer); time, 3.33.7.

220-yard Free Style—Won by Oppenheim (Union); Tucker (Trinity), second; Stearns (Union), third; time, 2.40.3.

150-yard Back Stroke—Won by Neese (Union); W. Adams (Trinity), second; Dickerson (Trinity), third; time, 2.00.

200-yard Breast Stroke — Won by Burd (Union); D. Schuman (Union), second; Coit (Trinity), third; time, 3.05.
